

Who We Are

The Broadcaster has been an integral part of Deming High School dating back to 1917. According to archived issues by Mr. Kenneth Leupold, former DHS teacher and advisor to the Broadcaster, it was a student newspaper that highlighted local activities and events. As we celebrate the 101 year anniversary of the Broadcaster, we will modernize this medium in the digital era as an online magazine. Gone are the days of digging in your backpack for a quarter to check out the latest Did You Know... and Horoscope.

We will continue many of the traditions and articles that date back to the early issues. With DHS history in mind, we will dedicate a section to Wildcat Alumni. Where are they now? What occupations did they pursue? How did Deming High School shape their lives?

We will also strive to stay up to date on the latest school news, events, and trends. Our main goal is to remain a platform for students to exhibit artwork, photography, fashion, music, and comment on current events. The creative writing and poetry section will pay tribute to the Wildcat publication, The Sunburst. The Sunburst was a journal dedicated entirely to poetry, vignettes, and short stories.

We have great ideas planned for the issues ahead, but we need your input. For now, the Broadcaster is not a course. Though, this will be something we consider for next semester. The Broadcaster is currently operating as a lunchtime and after school club based solely on student interest. We are looking for enthusiastic and committed students to join our team. What articles are you interested in reading or writing? Maybe you are tech savvy and can assist us with the technical side of our website. Whatever your interest, you can be a member of the Broadcaster crew. Listen to the announcements or stop by Mrs. Kriegel's class (Rm. 908) for information on meetings. You can also email us at Broadcaster@demingps.org.

Please check out the remarkable work that has gone into our first issue. We have had the assistance of many talented writers and artists. A special thank you goes out to the following students and staff. Without their assistance, The Broadcaster tradition may have faded away.
